General Rules for Compliance

Intendent Contractor

- A business offering services to the public with employees and facilities
- The contract is for the duration of the project, and the IC has time to work for others
- The IC makes a significant investment in its business, including paying for its own expenses, equipment, training

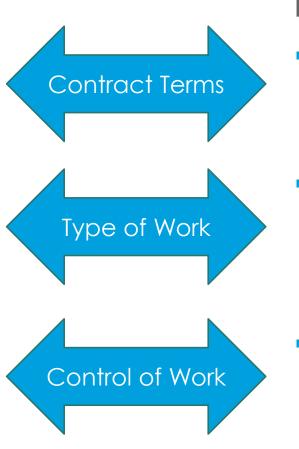

Employee

- An individual who does not have an independent business organization
- The relationship is continuous, and the individual is not allowed to work for others
- The company provides the tools and equipment, and reimburses the individual for business expenses

General Rules for Compliance

Intendent Contractor

- Paid by the project/task; terminated only for contract breach; may subcontract
- Work is not integral to the company's business and can be performed by the IC's employees
- The IC controls when, where and how the work is performed, and the sequence and hours of work

Employee

- Paid a salary or by the hour; may be terminated at will; cannot incur a loss
- Work is essential to the company's business and/or is performed by its own employees
- The company provides training and instruction on how to perform the work, and sets the work location and hours

Pro Tip #1: Eliminate Red Flags

Fix the Easy Calls

- Contractors who used to be your employees
- Contractors who perform the same work as employees
- Contractors who perform full-time work or work only for your company
- Contracts with non-compete clauses
- Contracts that provide hourly pay

Pro Tip #2: Audit High Risk Contractors

Build Your Suspect Pool

Review accounts payable, 1099s, IC contracts, and email access

- Highest paid contractors
- Contractors who use their social security numbers
- Contractors who have worked a long period of time
- Contractors who have emails on your system
- Contractors in high-risk states
- Contractors performing high-risk work

Pro Tip #3: Interview Both Company & Contractor

Interview Questions

To the Company

- Is the work core to the company's business?
- How long is the engagement
- Are we providing training? Equipment?
- What are the financial terms?
- Who controls when, where and how work is performed?

To the Contractor

- How is your business structured?
- Do you maintain business insurance?
- Do you have employees? How many?
- Do you have a business office? Where?
- Do you have other clients? How many?
- How do you market your services?

LOWERING YOUR RISK

ou may be able to lower your risk score by taking the following steps.

ntinuing Working Relationship with the Company ndependent contractors generally do not have an ongoing relationship with the engaging company. Contractors are engaged to perform work on distinct projects for a specific beriod of time. In contrast, employees are typically hired for an indefinite time period. The longer the company's relationship with the contractor, the more risk that the contractor will be found to be a misclassified employee. Multiple or renewed agreements for the same work or the same project also is an indication that the contractor may be misclassified.

ttler Alumni may be able to reduce its risk score by: (1) entering a new contract for each distinct project, (2) ensuring previous engagements with AAA Cleaning were for different and istinct projects, and (3) limiting the length of its contracts to a year or less.

e Contractor's Economic Dependence on the Company in independent contractor is not economically dependent on the engaging company; it operates independently of the engaging company. The success of the contractor's business is not dependent on its continued relationship with the company. An independent contractor's business will continue to exist independently of and apart from the contract, and will urvive the termination of the contract. Littler Alumni may be able to reduce its risk score by ensuring that the dollar value of this engagement will not be a high percentage of AAA ileaning 's business.

lethod of Payment

An employee is usually paid by the hour or on a salary basis. An independent contractor is usually paid a flat amount for the task, job or project. In other words, employees are paid based on the results of their work. Also, while employees are paid from payroll accounts, independent

Pro Tip #5: Restructure or Reclassify

Reduce Risk by Restructuring the Relationship

- Engage the contractor through a third-party
 - Require third-party comply with state and federal laws
 - Require third-part to indemnify your company against lawsuits and violations

- Review your IC agreements
 - Adopt standard contracts
 - State clearly that the contractor is not an employee
 - Compensate by the project and reimburse only for travel expenses
 - Eliminate non-compete clause
 - Contract terminated only for breach
 - Contract ends on a date certain
